

How Many More?

The people of Glades communities, saddened by the untimely death of another well-loved citizen, ponder the deplorable condition of our main highways which parallel canals throughout our area.

The tragic death last Thursday night of Mrs. Anita Ruth Williams is a sad reminder of the toll the ONLY AVAILABLE road between Belle Glade and South Bay, raises to NINE the total of such accidents since the first of this year, according to the Florida Highway Patrol office.

Several days probing by law officers confirms what those of us who travel the road regularly already know: The fatal accident was caused by "a bad spot" in the pavement.

Yet, to this one person in our community, who also frequently travelled the road, the "bad spot" proved to be a death trap. Approaching this section of the highway at dusk following evening rains, she apparently was unable to control her 1963 Buick on the THREE TO FOUR BLOCK LONG BUMPY STRETCH.

We're told that four limiting State Road 80 is now in the bag, but starting date is not yet confirmed.

In another accident on State Road 80 last Saturday, a Riviera Beach traveler escaped serious bodily injury when he drove his 1964 Cadillac into the canal to avoid a head-on collision. Workers near the scene managed to pull the unconscious man from the canal in time to save a life. Only the Cadillac, valued at $7,500 was lost.

How many more lives must be claimed along with thousands of dollars in property lost sustained by people forced to travel our death-trap roads before these conditions are corrected?

Folks Who Helped Build the Glades

Wauchula in 1908 and spent 1911-1912 in Marion County. His chief undertaking was at Wauchula, where he supervised picking crews.

Following his stint in World War I, with service in France, he returned to Wauchula, but came along to the Glades with brothers, Jay and Max, when they moved from Moore Haven, in 1927.

A small home was built approximately where Stein's quarters are now, and the three engaged in bean raising. Frank's farming has taken him to Immokalee and to Salerno, but he always gravitated back to the Glades.

A charter member of Everglades Post No. 20, American Legion, Frank served through officers of his Post, with a record of duty as Commander.

In 1934, Frank was married to Helen Veal, a native of Ocala and Willwood, Fla.

For more than 16 years, Mr. Morris has been a member of the Selective Service (local) Board.

In recent years, Frank has followed building and repairing, with a weather eye towards a well earned retirement in his middle seventies.

He and Helen are proud grandparents of two husky and active boys of the Curtis A. Thompson, Jr., (daughter Jane)

Cooperation Sought In Desegregation Of All Eating Establishments Here

Belle Glade's Bi-Racial Committee, appointed by the City Commission Monday night, emphasized that it has no authority, nor desire to force anyone to comply with the law.

The sincerity of purpose of the committee members was apparent to the crowd of near 80 in attendance in their presentation of views and suggestions.

There were 48 letters sent out to licensed food dispensers prior to the meeting.

It was decided to meet at some early date, after all white owners are contacted, with as many of the owners as will appear, for further consideration of

Riviera Beach Man Rescued When Car Plunges Into Canal

Saturday, on State Road 80, Lewis James Becker, 62, of 68 Claudia Avenue, Riviera Beach, in attempting to avoid a head-on collision, drove his 1964 Cadillac into the canal.

Maurice W. Sullivan, 35, of 111 Armona Avenue, Palmyra, and Hollis Jones, 36, of 1077 Belle Glade Road, Palmyra, were cutting trees near the scene. Upon hearing the noise, they paused only to remove their shoes and plunged into the canal. The car was still floating when the two men reached it, and Becker, who was still conscious, was pulled from the car after opening a window. An unidentified negro helped the pair render first aid when they reached the canal bank. Becker was bleeding severely from cuts, when rescued.

Trooper Harrison, who investigated the accident, stated that his investigation showed Becker was attempting to pass another car while driving on State Road 80, meeting a car around a curve, he ran his car off the north shoulder of the road and skidded and skinned the water 350 feet before striking the sink. According to Trooper Harrison, the Cadillac, valued at $7,500, was recovered from 35 feet of water and is said to be a total loss.

Combined assets of the TWO year ago were $19,553,312. Now the THREE have $20,565,891 for a million-plus gain.

The Everglades Federal Savings & Loan, added $2,565,000 to their assets. Some of these deposits are, of course, from other areas than the Glades — but it's "long green" available for the Glades' progress.

By their statements commercial banks show: Bank of Palmyra $2,381,559; the Bank of Belle Glade $4,217,512; and the Florida National at Belle Glade $8,966,820.

Larger commercial banks in the big cities have had their eyes on Glades Sugar, and have included the mortgage field with these farmers.

The Miami Production Credit has initiated the shorter term mortgage financing of sugar as well as their crop production loans.

The larger insurance companies have also initiated their prepayments on the basis of production, and thereby contributed to the longtime financing of Glades lands.

Indications from most of those white operators present are that a trial period for a majority of the white owners may be agreed on.

All discussions were free of the opposition, and no threats or intimidation were apparent.

Belle Glade is fortunate that we have no serious race difficulties. This is due to thoughtful and dedicated folks of both races.

The City Commissioners' Bi-Racial Committee, as did the audience participation Monday night, emphasized the point of no serious disturbance for the good of the communities, even though the subject of desegregation brings out deep-rooted opinions.

The committee is to be complimented in the presentations made by each, and audience speakers paralleled the thoughtful, polite and apparently sincere attitude.

Belle Glade citizens are fortunate that the Commission appointed the committee and the public appreciates, we are sure, the approach by the committee and other participants in the endeavor to settle the question without outsiders and their viewpoint.

Rev. Fenton Announces

The First Baptist Church of South Bay, Inc., known to many for years as the South Bay Baptist Church, announces that the newly organized work by the name of "South Bay Baptist Mission" holding services in the American Legion Hall are in no way connected with each other.

Faith's Challenge

There is something very special about a boy and his dog. The Bible teaches us that nothing more than to devote his life to his small master. He takes his boy on faith... and, inevitably, the boy lives up to it.

For faith creates a challenge. If someone believes something good of you, you find yourself eager to measure up to that standard.

God looks for the best in all of us. Regardless of what we may have happened yesterday we are, today, welcome in His Church. He has faith in us. Should we have less than faith in Him?

A large crowd of children of all ages also enjoyed an afternoon of swimming, visiting, and a nice buffet dinner informally around the swimming pool.

Price and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rhymes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Swindle and children from Immokalee, Mrs. Kate Holcomb and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hasty and children from Pahokee, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Dooley and son, Ricky Kinsman and son from Riviera Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Kirchman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodham and children, and Mrs. J. ## 5-County Program

Craftsmanship Awards To Be Made For Outstanding Architectural Work

The first annual Craftsmanship Award Program of the Palm Beach Chapter of the American Institute of Architects was started on its way at the regular July meeting of the group Thursday evening.

The program is to tie in with a statewide Craftsmanship Award Program of the Florida Association of Architects. The Palm Beach Chapter, which covers Indian River County, St. Lucie County, Martin and Palm Beach Counties, will give five who have done outstanding work in their fields on construction work done within the area of administration of the Chapter. One of these five will be given the top award as "Craftsman of the Year" and his name and work will be the Chapter's nomination for the state award to be presented at the Florida Association of Architects Convention in Jacksonville, November 12.

The Palm Beach Chapter will present the award at a special banquet for that purpose in September. The purpose of the program is to recognize and encourage outstanding workmanship and display of interest and ingenuity on the part of the craftsman. Judging will be done by a committee of architects and will be based on neatness, accuracy, care, and thoroughness of work, or when a craftsman's not a designer's skills and ingenuity work out and solve in a praiseworthy manner problems and details which are left to the discretion of the mechanic, result in commendable performance of difficult work, or enhance the artistic merit of the basic design by work involving skillfully finishing materials.

The award will be made on outstanding work in any phase of construction, such as carpentry, plumbing, electrical, air conditioning, finished concrete work, etc. While the award itself will be made only to the individual craftsman, recognition will be given to the recipient's employers, the contractor for the project, the architect and engineer.

The Co-Chairmen of the State Awards and Scholarship Committee or the Florida Association of Architects are Hilliard T. Smith, Jr., A. I. A., Smith & Selzer, Architects of Lake Worth, Florida, and M. H. Johnson, A. I. A., of Gainesville. Co-Chairmen of the Palm Beach Chapter Awards and Scholarship Committee are Raymond H. Flockman, A. I. A., Palm Beach, and Jack Willson, Jr., A. I. A., of Mass, Edge and Willson Palm Beach.

In other business at the meeting, conducted by Chapter President Robert W. Wening, A. I. A., the August meeting was set aside as "ladies night" and a report was made regarding the Begun Arts Ball which is being planned for next January.

Army Engineers Award Contract For Lock Tender's Dwelling

Army Engineers in Jacksonville today announced the award of a $39,535 contract to a Miami, Fla., firm for construction of a lock tender's dwelling at the newly opened navigation lock on the Caloosahatchee River.

Caloosahatchee River — a part of the Okeechobee Waterway.

The contract was awarded to Marvin Johnson of Miami, lowest of three bidders on the job. The house and special utilities will be located about 10 miles upstream on the Caloosahatchee River from Fort Myers in Lee County. The contract requires completion of the house and utilities within 150 calendar days.

Engineers announced several weeks ago that the new navigation lock had been opened and vessels are now using the facility. Dredging of the Caloosahatchee River as a floodway channel for the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project is continuing, Army Engineers said.

A LIGHT TO LIVE BY

It is customary to think of the United States as a young nation, and genealogy is true. As a people, as Americans owing allegiance to none but ourselves, we are young. We declared our independence 188 years ago. We won it after seven bitter years of war 181 years ago. But what we forget is that younger we are, we are nevertheless the oldest major republic on earth. We have more experience at community government than any other nation save Switzerland. It has worked wonderfully well for us. Even our Civil War resulted in cementing us more firmly together, and in our 181 years we have grown from a small, barely independent nation into the lustiest, most powerful people of them all.

What our detractors cannot conceive is that we have no desire to rule. Autocratic governments must rule to live; they cannot govern because to govern is to carry out the wishes of the citizenry and few citizens of any nation want domination and political slavery.

The distractions which surround us must not obscure in our minds the means of preserving what our forefathers gained for us nearly 200 years ago. Those patriots lit a lamp that still burns brighter than any other and if we tend it well will continue to shed its warm and kindly light long after the cold flame of despotism has burned itself out.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "The statement by a young family man in the act of an armed robbery in the Los Angeles area to the effect that there was nothing basically wrong in stealing from the support of his wife and family well illustrates the wrong thinking that follows in the train of government subsidies of all sorts. To many people this taking from those who can afford it to give to those in need has the aura of Robin Hoodism that has been popular for centuries though it violates basic property rights. Since the government can create virtually nothing, its function is limited to confiscation and predation that takes from the common treasury to award relief in event of disaster or to influence social readjustment that meets with popular favor at the moment. But because of the immense complexity of our society, the government has been unable to appear that government awards of this type are in the nature of additions to our aggregate wealth and therefore in the general public interest."

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where Congressman Olsen of Montana is trying to get a investigation about all this paper work that goes on amongst the departments of the Government.

He give out some figures that ought to stagger all the people of this country. For instance, he showed where Government paper work cost the taxpayers $4 billion last year. Even Department of the Government has made out from 3 to 6 to 10 of everything that is written in Washington, from a letter to a request for office pencils. It was now getting to the place where the storage space for these forms and paper work was taking up as much space as they were using to store surplus wheat. Furthermore, he reported, the cost of storing this junk was running about neck and neck with the cost of storing wheat.

He told the Congress they were 500,000 Federal employees that didn't do nothing but collect and compile and store this paper work. He claimed the paper work disease was being fought on all kinds of private enterprise, from the country store to the large corporations. For instance, he presented a audit from Montgomery Ward & Company showing they had to file 498,000 forms with the Government last year and it cost the company a quarter of a million dollars to handle it.

We was talking about these matters at the country store Saturday night and the fellow that runs the store reported his brain had done give way just from keeping books and forms for the state and Federal departments. He allowed as how this was the main reason he was planning to put in the supermarket plan where the customers could wait on themselves. He claimed he didn't have time to serve his customers and do his paper work at the same time.

Ed Doolittle reported the "Grassy Waters Group of Alcoholic Anonymous" for help or info on meeting: 404-5782 (Pahokee) or 332-1909 (West Palm Beach) ler that runs the feed and seed store had to quit chewing tobacco on account of them Government forms. He said a fellow couldn't chew tobacco without stopping out in a while to spit and he claimed he was getting behind with his forms on account of losing spitting time.

Clem Webster reminded the feller July was here and again it was time for the annual raising of the debt limit ceremony in the Congress. Clem said he was reading in the papers where they was getting behind with his forms on account of losing spitting time.

Yours truly,

Dear Mr. Jones:
I enjoy reading newspapers and I usually read the Belle Glade Herald whenever I see a copy. Now that Solicitor-elect Marvin Munn is receiving a copy of the Herald every week, I have a chance to see it a little more often.

July 9th edition enjoyed your article which appeared on Page 1 of that issue. The article was actually very well connected.

The first dealt with the irresponsible conduct of young people in our community and the apparent abdication of responsibility on the part of many parents who fail to exercise proper supervision over their children. I agree wholeheartedly with the statements of Chief Goodlett Deputy Bond and the movement of firearms in interstate or foreign commerce; (c) prohibits convicted felons, persons under indictment, and fugitives from justice from shipping, transporting, or receiving firearms in interstate or foreign commerce; and (d) prohibits the shipment, transportation, or receipt of stolen firearms from which the serial number has been removed, obliterated, or altered.

Both of these laws provide a maximum fine of $2000 or imprisonment up to 5 years, or both, for conviction of violation of any of these provisions. Under postal laws and regulations, concealable firearms, such as pistols and revolvers, may not be shipped through the mails except to certain classes of persons under certain conditions.

The Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, provides that no person, except under special authorization, may carry a deadly or dangerous weapon on board a commercial aircraft.

Thirty-five states have constitutional provisions guaranteeing the right "to keep and bear arms." The courts have held that the states under their general and broad police powers may regulate, within the limits of their constitutions, the possession and use of firearms in furtherance of the health, safety, and general welfare of their citizens. In the exercise of this power and in the due administration of criminal justice, the states have adopted various controls over the possession and use of firearms, such as pistol or revolver.

21 states prohibit the carrying of a handgun on the person.
25 states require a license to carry a handgun on or about the person.
18 states require a license to carry a handgun in a vehicle.

appalled when we have a racial situation such as occurred in Pahokee last week and find that a run is being made on the Army-Navy Store and the various grocery stores in Belle Glade and other places where firearms can be purchased by anyone at any time without any registration or permit.

It's fine to talk about lofty principles but the poor policeman who has to get out and do the dirty work feels that there should be some reasonable regulation and control of firearms. Your support in this particular respect is very much appreciated.

I rather suspect that being in the newspaper business is somewhat akin to being a politician. People will always tell you about the things that you are doing right, but you never hear about it when they agree with you. Since we have this common bond, I thought you might appreciate my sentiments.

Yours very truly,

Basic Facts of Firearms Control

From The American Rifleman

The National Firearms Act of 1934, as amended, imposes a tax and registration on the making or transfer of all fully-automatic firearms and all short-barreled rifles and shotguns.

The Federal Firearms Act of 1938, as amended, (a) requires the licensing of manufacturers and importers of, and dealers in, firearms; (b) provides certain restrictions on the movement of firearms in interstate or foreign commerce; (c) prohibits convicted felons, persons under indictment, and fugitives from justice from shipping, transporting, or receiving firearms in interstate or foreign commerce; and (d) prohibits the shipment, transportation, or receipt of stolen firearms from which the serial number has been removed, obliterated, or altered.

Both of these laws provide a maximum fine of $2000 or imprisonment up to 5 years, or both, for conviction of violation of any of these provisions. Under postal laws and regulations, concealable firearms, such as pistols and revolvers, may not be shipped through the mails except to certain classes of persons under certain conditions.

The Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, provides that no person, except under special authorization, may carry a deadly or dangerous weapon on board a commercial aircraft.

Thirty-five states have constitutional provisions guaranteeing the right "to keep and bear arms." The courts have held that the states under their general and broad police powers may regulate, within the limits of their constitutions, the possession and use of firearms in furtherance of the health, safety, and general welfare of their citizens. In the exercise of this power and in the due administration of criminal justice, the states have adopted various controls over the possession and use of firearms, such as pistol or revolver.

21 states prohibit the carrying of a handgun on the person.
25 states require a license to carry a handgun on or about the person.
18 states require a license to carry a handgun in a vehicle.

Petroleum Increase Port Tonnages

Five of Florida's major harbors boasted increased tonnages for 1963, according to statistics released today by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in Jacksonville.

The state's two biggest harbors, Tampa and Jacksonville, however, showed slight decreases.

Miami Harbor jumped from 1,181,345 tons in 1962 to 1,327,287 tons in 1963.

Port Everglades, the state's third busiest port, boosted its tonnage from $5,244,29 tons in 1962 to 5,535,906 tons last year.

Tampa Harbor, the state's No. 1 port, showed a slight drop in tonnage last year, slipping from 15,427,164 tons in 1962 to 15,305,570 tons in 1963.

Palm Beach Harbor jumped from 508,545 tons in 1962 to 875,906 in 1963.

Petroleum products accounted for the bulk of tonnages in all harbors and waterways, except for Tampa Harbor and Charlotte Harbor where phosphate rock products and fertilizer chemicals added to the totals considerably.

Junior's Essay

About the Force of Gravity
The force of gravity is funny — you can't feel it but it has got you just the same. The force of gravity is the only thing that keeps you from taking off like a rocket, because it is what holds you on the earth. If something didn't hold us on the earth I don't know where we would go.

I don't know whether I want to leave the earth or not — I know I don't want to be gone long. It is bad enough here but it might be worse somewhere else.

I am glad the force of gravity is fixed so I can stand up when I want to, and lie down when I want to go to sleep. I think the force of gravity keeps me from sitting up when I am asleep.

It's the force of gravity that makes everything weigh what it does. If it wasn't for the force of gravity, nothing wouldn't weigh anything. You wouldn't weigh anything, and neither would a ton of lead.

The only thing that laughs in the force of gravity's face are airplanes, helicopters, birds, bees, butterflies, kites and all the other insects with wings and maybe some other things. The only time the force of gravity can hold them when they are not flying, I think maybe a kite is a little different from those other things because it is the string and not the force of gravity that holds the kite. The force of gravity holds whoever is flying the kite, and whoever is flying the kite holds the string, and the string holds the kite, I think that's it.

Now you ought to know all about the force of gravity, but just to show you how it works, suppose there was another world close enough to this one, so you could see people on the other one. Just say you are standing on this one and looking at four men on the other one. One man is staring you right in the face, another is sticking straight out, on your right and another one straight out on your left. The other man on the bottom looks to you like he is upside down. Well, that man looks like he is upside down in the face of the force of gravity and he thinks he is standing up. The one on the right, the one on the left and the one on the bottom, all think the same thing. And you think the same thing too, but for all you know, you might be upside down, just like that one on the bottom.

In Florida... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with a cold, heavy glass of beer. The beer's hardly any better, but it's what you need to do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each you the right touch of extra good feeling.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Florida...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

$1/4 Million In Florida Produce Purchased By Winn-Dixie Stores

An increase of nearly a quarter of a million dollars in the amount of Florida fresh fruits and vegetables purchased on the Pahokee market during the 1963-64 growing season was prepared by Winn-Dixie Stores Inc.

These purchases totaled $2,233,047 compared to $2,030,399 for the 1962-63 growing season.

The produce was bought thru Winn-Dixie's field buying office here and four dits way in to shopping baskets in many of the company's more than 600 supermarkets throughout the South.

"These purchases are in line with Winn-Dixie's policy of doing business with growers in areas where we operate," said Joe A. Adams, in charge of perishable merchandising.

"They also emphasize the important part South Florida fruit and vegetable growers are playing in the over-all economy of our region."

In the Mid West University, town where we "wintered" a few semesters two of our students friends collaborated on writing a science fiction novel. They wrote it in longhand on a roll of shelf paper, winding it up Egyptian-wise, and eventually storing the scroll in a closet. We were impressed, whatever the fate of the manuscript, with the enthusiasm of these two math majors. They had never shown any affinity for Freshman English.

THE HOPKINS MAUSCRIPT by R. C. Sherriff, is a sample of the quality of work which attracts many to reading and writing in this field.

It was published in 1938, and has since become a science fiction classic. This new edition, a current selection of the Science Fiction Book Club, has an introduction which traces Sherriff's career, and an epilogue by George Gamow, a noted Professor of Physics, who evaluates the author's lunar theories.

The story of an accident in nature, the collision of earth and moon, is told in a manuscript found some thousand years hence. Edgar Hopkins, retired school master, poultry breeder, and amateur astronomer quite deserves the description of those who find his manuscript, "a man of unquenchable self-esteem and limited vision."

If you have never read it, now is a good time to do it. The editors feel that the concern it expresses is as valid now as in 1938, and we agree. The concern is not over an accident in nature, but over ruthless ambition of political leaders.

The Quiet Crisis. Stewart L. Udall.

Secretary Udall is a dedicated man. Shortly after his appointment as Secretary of the Interior he began to collect material for this literature, impassioned work on the conservation crisis of the 1960's.

It contains lively biographies of men who contributed to the conservation movement, Thoreau, Marsh, Schurz, Powell, Muir, Olmsted, Pinchot, and the two Roosevelts. The story of how they battled, literally, to save some of our national resources makes exciting reading. "We live in a land of vanishing beauty, an environment diminished daily by pollution, noise and blight." The book makes a real contribution to awakening America to the fact.

The Fireside Book of Fishing.

Here is a top-notch present for a fisherman husband, who sometimes has to sit out gale winds, and choppy waters. With over forty pieces, fiction, fact, and instruction, there is something for all. It covers lake, stream, and salt water fishing, and moves from humor, to farce, to drama.

Evolution

Revolution

The world-famous army 'Jeep' vehicle started it all. Then came the evolutionary changes. Sensible changes. Like more ground clearance. Stronger suspension. Weather proof tops. Fun changes. Like pink and white striped upholstery. Fringed sunroofs. Lively colors. A sports roadster. A station wagon — rugged, durable, designed for work and play.

Then came the 'Jeep' Wagoneer. A revolution! The Wagoneer is so revolutionary, it's hard to recognize your old 'Jeep' friend. It's a station wagon. And a looker! You'll be stunned. Slide into that luxurious interior. Beautiful. Comfortable. Visibility unlimited!

*Optional items at slight extra cost.

Turn the Ignition key. You've got an overhead cam engine purring for you. The only one in any American production car. Try that steering. Power. The brakes. Power again. The transmission. It's automatic. Feel that ride. Pure luxury. And the 'Jeep' heart and spirit are still there. Pull one simple lever and you're in 'Jeep' 4-wheel 'Drivepower.' Then there's hardly a hill that can keep you down... hardly a mud hole that can bog you down. In fact, there's scarcely any driving situation that can get you down. You're free to go anywhere with the traction to pull you through.

'Too Late To Classify'

By RUSSELL KAY
There have been so many books written about Florida that it is hard to conceive that anyone could find anything new to write about, particularly of a historical nature. Just about the time you figure that everything that could possibly be written, has been written, along comes somebody with a new slant or new angle to upset the apparent and bring to light some facts that you and probably a lot of other folks didn't know.

Such a book is "Unknown Florida," by Florence Fritz of Ft. Myers, recently released by The University of Miami Press.

I thoroughly enjoyed it, primarily because of my personal knowledge of the subjects discussed, my personal acquaintance with many of the characters mentioned, and my experience and activity in promoting the area covered, as a pioneer and newspaperman.

"Unknown Florida" deals with a limited area of Southwest Florida, the Caloosahatchee region which encompasses the present counties of Glades, Hendry and Lee.

I must commend the author for the tremendous amount of patient research that must have gone into compiling the data that deals with the past 50 or 60 years, the checking of geographical data, the personal interviews with hundreds of residents, particularly pioneers, and the study of all available information concerning the subjects found in books, pamphlets, and documents here and abroad.

As we all are aware, Florida is no younger. Her history goes back to the ice age, to the time of the great beasts, the saber tooth tiger, the mighty mammoth, the three-toed horse and dinosaurs. Our phosphate pits authenticate their existence here as do the rings of the ancient cypress trees that flourished centuries before the birth of Christ.

And prior to that Florida was an undersea province as geological formations reveal to us today. In dealing with this period of Florida's history, the author of "Unknown Florida" has no more authentic knowledge than those of any other writer but geological evidence indicates that the Caloosahatchee country, along with the rest of Florida, had its share of prehistoric development.

The periods covered in "Unknown Florida" that especially appealed to me were those dealing with the Indian habitation, the early Spanish invasion and the early development by pioneers who came to establish the flourishing communities that now thrive in the area.

Our little group of 23 men, including two Indian guides, pushed and fought our way across the Glades, starting with seven cars, two of which we were obliged to leave behind as we cut a trail through the trackless land, to prove that it was possible to make such a crossing. Our effort resulted in the eventual building of the Tamiami Trail linking the West and East.

East coast, that experienced road builders of the period contended was impossible. This was in 1923. Prior to that I had visited and reported the development of such communities as Moorehaven, Clewiston, Ft. Myers, and others, and I can say that in her, recount of this period Miss Fritz' report in "Unknown Florida" is authentic and well done.

Planning Meals Saves Mother Time And Energy

Taking time to plan meals, and organize steps needed to get them on the table is the real secret of many women who enjoy a reputation for being gifted homemakers for having "a flair for food."

Good planning, something that nearly everyone can learn to do, has many other advantages other than the obvious one of having a smooth running household, says Miss Mary Todd, Palm Beach County Home Demonstration Agent.

For one thing, you avoid unnecessary purchases when you plan, she says. You also avoid the monotony of having the same foods too often.

Organize your market order carefully. Take note of what you already have. The next time you shop become aware of how the shelves and departments are arranged. Group your shopping list accordingly. You will be a more relaxed shopper.

Breakfast seems to be the meal that suffers the most from poor planning. When time is a problem, meal planning can save many homemakers from starting the day in a whirlwind.

Convenience foods such as individual serving packets of cereal permits everyone to serve himself. Plating the glasses for juice in the refrigerator eliminates unnecessary steps and makes the juice taste extra zesty.

If more than two slices of toast are needed at one time, use the broiler.

Check to see that the sugar bowl is filled, napkins placed and table set the night before. Delegating duties to family members if always helpful.

Lunchtime can be more relaxed if when the children come in they are met with a planned meal rather than the question, "What do you want?"

Now that summer is here and the children are never in one place too long, it is best to plan meals that are light, easy to prepare and tasty. Mealtime should never be replaced by endless snacks. Both you and your family profit by planning.
